									As an adult, I used to visit the bookmobile. I think maybe it stopped at the Broadway mall. I liked it because it had a little bit of everything and was not overwhelming in volume. Kind of like going to Chicos instead of Dillards to look for a dress. I think it would be great to bring it back. I am donating to several elementary schools who have recently bought book vending machines so kids can have their own books. Thank you for doing this. Joyce Jones
